100-mg tablets of Viagra usually cost more than 10 US dollars per tablet. The active ingredient of Viagra is sildenafil citrate. Sildenafil citrate is not particularly difficult or expensive to manufacture. Viagra is only expensive because Pfizer holds a patent on it.

In some Asian countries, pharmaceutical chemicals cannot be patented. Therefore, pharmaceutical companies in these countries have started to supply their home markets with their own sildenafil citrate, at much lower prices.

The domain LoveDrugs.net includes a survey on where this kind of sildenafil citrate can be bought or mail-ordered through the Internet. Please note: the survey deals with genuine sildenafil citrate that is manufactured in FDA-approved facilities, not with bootleg Viagra. For details please click here to proceed to LoveDrugs.net.

Malaysia is composed of two parts. Peninsular Malaysia is a long portion of land which extends from the border of Thailand to Singapore. The northern part is mostly covered by dense jungle, while the central part is lightly populated. The western part is a fertile plain extending down to the sea.

East Malaysia, the other part of the country, is adjacent to the southern part of Indonesian state of Kalimantan. It is divided between Sarawak and Sabah, with the country of Brunei between them.

Malaysia comprises 13 states and two federal territories - Kuala Lumpur and Labuan (an island off the coast of Sabah). Nine of the states have a hereditary ruler respectively from which the Supreme Head of State, the Yang Di-Pertuan Agong(King) is elected every five years.

The government is based on parliamentary democracy. The head of the government, the Prime Minister heads the Cabinet of Ministers.

Manufacturing forms the largest single component of Malaysia's economy. Malaysia is one of the world's largest producers of rubber, tin, palm oil, timber, pepper and petroleum. Tourism, too, is emerging as a major revenue earner.

Malaysia is 8 hours ahead of GMT and 16 hours ahead of the U. S. Pacific Standard Time.

Captain Francis Light in 1786, acquired the island of Penang from the local sultan in exchange for protection. He later established a town and named it "Georgetown" after King George IV of England.

The Island measures a modest 285 sq. km. And is inhabited by slightly over a million people who hail from a diverse mix of cultures and religions.

Its owes much of its fame to its fine beaches which are ideal for all types of water sports. Along its beaches, resorts of international standards have sprouted up offering full facilities for rest and recreation.

Blessed with such a great variety of food that it is often said that Penangites don't eat to live; they live to eat. Hawkers stalls offering diverse selection of local fare are in abundance everywhere you go. Nasi Kandar, Satay (skewered marinated meat pieces), Laksa (noodles in spicy sour soup), Hainanese Chicken Rice, Popiah and Rojak are just some of Penang's sumptuous treats you can't afford to miss.

Langkawi comprises a group of 104 tropical islands lying off the northwestern coast of Peninsular Malaysia, about 30 kilometres from Kuala Perlis and 51 kilometres from Kuala Kedah.

The main islands are richly blessed with a heritage of fabulous myths and legends: of ogres and gigantic birds, warriors and fairy princesses, battles and romance. As a natural paradise, the island are perhaps unmatched anywhere else in Southeast Asia.

With a geological history dating back 500 million odd years, the islands contain unique rock formations that stir the imagination and baffle the mind. Numerous caves, with their stunning stalactites and stalagmites, taunt the adventurous to unravel their ancient secrets.

Fine beaches offer sun-filled days of complete relaxation. The clear, emerald waters around the islands provide a host of water sports and recreation, and a magical world of marine life. Nestling amidst the mist-covered hills, limestone outcrops and lush forest are fascinating waterfalls and mysterious caves.

The rich diversity of flora and fauna offers the nature lover amazing sights and sounds'. For those with a yen for adventure, jungle trekking and a boat trips up rivers and around the islands are most rewarding. The rustic beauty of the islands is in itself a compelling attraction.

100-mg tablets of Viagra usually cost more than 10 US dollars per tablet. The active ingredient of Viagra is sildenafil citrate. Sildenafil citrate is not particularly difficult or expensive to manufacture. Viagra is only expensive because Pfizer holds a patent on it.

In some Asian countries, pharmaceutical chemicals cannot be patented. Therefore, pharmaceutical companies in these countries have started to supply their home markets with their own sildenafil citrate, at much lower prices.

The domain LoveDrugs.net includes a survey on where this kind of sildenafil citrate can be bought or mail-ordered through the Internet. Please note: the survey deals with genuine sildenafil citrate that is manufactured in FDA-approved facilities, not with bootleg Viagra. For details please click here to proceed to LoveDrugs.net.

Kuah, the main town, is located on the southeastern side of Pulau Langkawi. It is the take off point to the neighbouring islands by ferry.

The name "Kuah" is a Malay word meaning "gravy" and involves an old legend of two battling giants who overturned a gigantic pot of curry at the spot where the town now stands.

Once a rustic town with a few streets, Kuah today is a thriving centre of modern hotels and shopping-cum-business complexes, but without the over-crowding and bustle of modern cities.

Kuah is a duty free shopping haven with a wide variety of goods sold attractive prices. The multi-racial population produces excellent culinary delights, specially fresh seafood.

Makam Mahsuri (Mahsuri Tomb or Mausoleum) lies in a village about 12 kilometres from Kuah.

This shrine is in honour of a fair maiden who lived on Pulau Langkawi more than two hundreds years ago.

Accused unjustly of adultery, she was executed with a special kris. According to legend, she bled white blood and in her dying breath, she laid a curse on the island that it would henceforth not prosper for seven generations.

Fact or fiction, the seven generations have come to an end and Langkawi today enjoys the prosperity of accelerated development and ever increasing tourist arrivals.

The underwater World Langkawi, a marine showcase featuring both fresh and seawater fish and marine life, is the latest attraction in the legendary island Langkawi.

Located at the popular beach of Pantai Cenang, this newest draw card features more than 100 tanks of different sizes.

The highlights is a giant tank housing large species such as sharks, stingrays, groupers and green turtles, with 15-metre tunnel for visitors to walk through and have a spectacular view of the exhibits.

Underwater gardens of weeds and sea plants together with exotic fishes and exhibits of fossils and shells add to the range of interesting sights to look for.

Housed within the complex are a fast food outlet, a duty free shopping arcade and a shop-selling dried seafood such as shark fins, birds nest, scallops and oysters.

Nestled in the midst of lushly forested hills on this island south of Pulau Langkawi is Tasik Dayang Bunting (Lake of the Pregnant Maiden), the largest lake in all the islands of Langkawi. The outline of hills and rocky outcrops on one side of the lake takes the shape of a pregnant maiden lying on her back. But the name of both the island and the lake is attributed to a legend of a lovely fairy princess who married an earthly prince. Her first child died shortly after birth. So sad and depressed was she that she buried the child in the crystal clear waters of the lake. Before she returned to her fairy adobe, she blessed the waters so that henceforth any childless maiden who bathed in the lake would conceive thereafter.

Perak, the Land of Grace, covers an area of 21,000 squares kilometres and has a population of about two million.

The state is divided into nine districts and its major towns include Ipoh, Kuala Kangsar, Taiping, Teluk Intan and Lumut.

Kuala Kangsar is the royal town of Perak, while Ipoh is the administrative centre and state capital.

For centuries, Perak was renowned for its rich tin deposits. It is believed that the state derived its name, which means silver in Malay, from the silvery tin ore.

The discovery of tin by Long Jaafar brought about an influx of immigrants to Perak. It has developed into a harmonious multi-racial society characterised by a diversity in language, culture

100-mg tablets of Viagra usually cost more than 10 US dollars per tablet. The active ingredient of Viagra is sildenafil citrate. Sildenafil citrate is not particularly difficult or expensive to manufacture. Viagra is only expensive because Pfizer holds a patent on it.

In some Asian countries, pharmaceutical chemicals cannot be patented. Therefore, pharmaceutical companies in these countries have started to supply their home markets with their own sildenafil citrate, at much lower prices.

The domain LoveDrugs.net includes a survey on where this kind of sildenafil citrate can be bought or mail-ordered through the Internet. Please note: the survey deals with genuine sildenafil citrate that is manufactured in FDA-approved facilities, not with bootleg Viagra. For details please click here to proceed to LoveDrugs.net.

Perak has a proud track record making the best every circumstances. Despite the tin slump in 1983, it has succeeded in restructuring its economic development, resulting in continuous industrial growth. A sound infrastructure and facilities of international standard make it an ideal environment for business enterprise.

Originally an obscure kampung with dilapidated buildings, Ipoh, the town that tin built, has become one of the largest cities in Malaysia. Poised to become a focal point of industry, business, investment, education and social activities, Ipoh, the capital city reflects the overall progress and development that the state is experiencing.

There are many modern shopping centres and supermarkets in Perak especially in Ipoh and the major towns. Other places where you can pick up good bargains are at the pasar malam or night markets. These are street bazaars that stock everything from local handicrafts to folk medicine, from farm-fresh product to casual wear.

The construction of the mosque began in the reign of Sultan Idris Murshidul Adzam Shah I, the 28th Sultan of Perak, but was interrupted a number of times. Once, when two elephants belonging to Sultan Idris and Raja Chulan ran over the imported Italian marble floor, and again during the first World War. The mosque was officially opened by Sultan Jalil Karaamatullah Shah in 1917.

Within the huge limestone caves of Gunung Tasek 6 km to the north of Ipoh, nestles the Perak Tong temple. Built in 1962 by a Buddhist priest from China, the temple houses over 40 Buddha statues, the centre piece being a 12.8 metre high sitting Buddha. Beyond the main altar, a passage leads into the cave's interior. After a steep climb of 385 steps, the cave opens again to reveal a wonderful view of the surrounding countryside.

Another famous cave temple is the Sam Poh Tong temple, located in Gunung Rapat, 5 km south of Ipoh. The temple is an impressive work of art and faith, with various statues of Buddha among natural stalactites and stalagmites. There is also a pond where visitors can feed tortoises, (symbol of longevity) with stalks of vegetables and a wishing well for those seeking better fortunes. Outside the temple is a vegetarian restaurants.

Located in the East Coast region of Peninsular Malaysia, Pahang is the peninsula's largest state.

Spanning north to south of the state, forming a natural divider between east and west Pahang is a formidable mountain range wherein lies Peninsular Malaysia's highest peak, Gunung Tahan, the inspiration of many a mountaineer in this part of the world. Pahang's climate is characteristic of the tropics - hot and humid all the year round with distinct wet and dry season coincides with wet seasons from the South China Sea. Kuantan, the state capital, is not only fast developing as a commercial town but is also a popular seaside resort. Pekan, the royal town is situated 45km south of Kuantan.

Pahang is rich in natural resources. About two thirds of the state is covered by rich tropical forest. Palm oil, rubber and cocoa are cultivated extensively in large and development schemes. Manufacturing has also provided additional income to the state. A state richly blessed with many attractions to offer, Pahang is also set to become one of the leading tourist destinations in the country.

100-mg tablets of Viagra usually cost more than 10 US dollars per tablet. The active ingredient of Viagra is sildenafil citrate. Sildenafil citrate is not particularly difficult or expensive to manufacture. Viagra is only expensive because Pfizer holds a patent on it.

In some Asian countries, pharmaceutical chemicals cannot be patented. Therefore, pharmaceutical companies in these countries have started to supply their home markets with their own sildenafil citrate, at much lower prices.

The domain LoveDrugs.net includes a survey on where this kind of sildenafil citrate can be bought or mail-ordered through the Internet. Please note: the survey deals with genuine sildenafil citrate that is manufactured in FDA-approved facilities, not with bootleg Viagra. For details please click here to proceed to LoveDrugs.net.

Pahang has a comprehensive taxi and bus service to take you around town as well as to other interesting sightseeing spots within the vicinity.

There is also an efficient transport system for interstate travel from Pahang to other states in the country and inter-district travel from one district to another in Pahang.

Eating out in Pahang offers experiences as satisfying as what one experience in Kuala Lumpur and the rest of the country. Pahang's multi-cultural people readily whip up a varied menu requiring various methods of food preparation.

For those who are more sports minded will find Pahang to their liking. International wind surfing competitions are held biannually (normally at the beginning and at the end of the year), excellent golf courses are available. While polo enthusiasts can also pursue their interest. Indeed, Pahang is rapidly becoming a centre for sporting events.

A wide variety of choices of accommodation are available: beach and hill resorts, bungalows and hotels, ranging from the internationally administered chains to the moderately-priced local establishments. Most hotels have centralised air-conditioning, well-equipped convention and conference halls, coffee houses, restaurants, cocktails lounges, discos, health centres with sauna and good telecommunication facilities.

Beserah is a fishing village and is well-known for salted fish. But what many people do not know is a very unique practise of the Beserah fisherman: they employ water buffaloes (which are not normally seen on the beach for they are always used to plough paddy fields or to pull heavy carts), to transport fish from the boats to the processing area.

It is situated 10 km from Kuantan, it also boasts a batik factory, many cottage handicraft workshops producing items made mostly of sea shells and plant materials (dried nuts, leaves).

To many, Cherating is synonymous with Club Med since Asia's first Club Med is located here. The resort is a low-rise development with extensive landscaping. It has one of the finest beaches in the East Coast.

Situated only 47 km from Kuantan, its unique feature is the rustic atmosphere and the warm hospitality of the village folk. Cherating also offers you the chance to shop for handicraft and see cultural performances.

Village maidens nimbly weave the pandanus leaves into mats, hats, bags and other inexpensive lightweight souvenirs.

Cultural shows include wayang kulit (shadow play) and silat (Malay art of self-defence).

"Viagra" at 3 dollar per 100 mg

Located in the wilds, Lake Chini is approximately 100 km from Kuantan. The lake, with its well-known myths, has attracted tourists from far and near. Legend has it that an ancient Khmer city once existed and the interest in this legend has since resulted in several scientific expeditions being mounted by archeologist, both local and foreign. It is also popularly believed that a mythical monster lurks in the deep waters and guards the lake.

Lake Chini has a number of wooden chalets and restaurants to cater for overnight visitors. There are also a number of camping spots if you plan to rough it out. Jungle gear and camping equipment are recommended.

Access to the lake is by road to Kampung Belimbing, about 100 km, south west Kuantan and then on by boat through the winding Chini river or one can go by road via Segamat Highway through the new town of Chini, and then for about 15 minutes through oil palm estate roads to the lake.

Tioman is the largest of group of 64 volcanic islands, dottering the South China Sea. Tioman is magnificent island in the sun, with good reefs for diving and crystal-clear water for swimming. Legends has it that Pulau Tioman is the resting ground of a beautiful dragon princess who, whilst flying from China to her beloved in Singapore, sought solace in the crystal-clear waters of the South China Sea. Pleased with the island's charms, she discontinued her journey, forsaking her happiness to give pleasure and comfort to passing travellers by turning herself into an island.

Pulau Tioman is accessible by boat from Mersing of Tanjung Gemuk jetty which takes about 3 to 4 hours. Or one can also take a plane from either Kuala Lumpur, Singapore and Kuantan.

Accommodation comes in the form of delightful wooden chalets on the beach or in luxurious hotel rooms at the Berjaya Tioman Beach Resort. Whichever the choice, comfort and hospitality is assured.

Taman Negara or National Park is one of the oldest tropical rain forests in the world. It is partly located in Pahang's tropical rain forest and is home to countless species of flora and fauna. It is the embodiment of nature's conservation at its best. Jungle tracks and camping sites are made in such a way so as not to spoil the natural scheme of things, and intended simply for closer observations of the wildlife in their natural habitat. Mountaineering enthusiasts will find the 2187m Gunung Tahan another challenging feat to conquer.

If you are interested to attempt a climb, make sure to get an experienced guide. The journey must be done in two stages due to the scarcity of water. It takes at least three days to journey from foot of the mountain to the summit and back.

There are numerous streams a small waterfalls which are always good for a dip. If you love fishing, the many rivers in Taman Negara provide pleasant spots especially near Lata Berkoh and Sungai Kenyam. Rapid water boating up the river is a thrilling experience.

The Taman Negara adventure begins at a very start of the journey into the park at Kuala Tembeling which you can reach from Jerantut which approximately a 3 to 4 -hour drive from Kuala Lumpur. There are regular bus and taxi services from Jerantut to Kuala Tembeling and from then on it is the boat ride to Kuala Tahan, the Park's administration station.

Genting Highlands, the most developed of Malaysia's hill resorts is popular with local and foreign visitors alike. The resort offers accommodation to suit every budget and taste. The cool mountain weather and lush greenery makes for an ideal escapade away from the heat, hustle and bustle of the city.

There are numerous activities that one can indulge in: dining at the Genting Theater Restaurant, featuring shows by international stars, boating and the thrilling rides at the amusement park. Do not miss the "Virtual Reality" an exciting and unique game. Punters can try their luck at the world class Casino De Genting. The Awana Golf and Country Resort, a luxury condotel, provides first class facilities, 18-hole golf course, horse riding at the Awana ranch and jungle trekking.

Genting Highlands is accessible by well-maintained road and is only an hour's drive from Kuala Lumpur. Alternatively, visitors can soar above the clouds on cable cars from Awana to the summit and enjoy a panoramic view of the highland scenery en-route.

Fraser's Hill, 104 km from Kuala Lumpur, can be reached from this capital city either via the Karak Highway turning off towards Bentong/Raub; turning left to Gap before Raub for an exhilarating drive through the narrow and steeply winding road.

Alternatively, one can also take the Northern route (towards Penang) and cutting off at Kuala Kubu Baru for a drive to Gap. At Gap, there is a control gate for one-way traffic to the hill which is open from 6.30 am to 7.00 pm, with up hill traffic reserved for odd hours and down-hill traffic at even hours.

Fraser's Hill provides visitors with the cool mountain air, the abundance of luxuriant vegetation, the peace and tranquillity combined with other attractions such as its stable of ponies, the nursery containing many exotic flowers and a very pleasant 9-hole golf course. For accommodation, Fraser's Hill has a range of hotels, chalets and colonial-bungalows to suit one's preference and budget.

The state of Selangor is on the West Coast of Peninsular Malaysia and covers 8,000 square kilometres. Its capital, Shah Alam, is situated between Kuala Lumpur and Port Klang, the country's largest port. Hailed as one of Asia's best planned cities, Shah Alam boasts of modern infrastructure, communications and service facilities.

Resource-rich Selangor is Malaysia's premier state, being the richest and the most developed. Its economy is diversified with a good mixture of agricultural, industrial, commercial and tourism activities.

Though rubber, palm-oil and tin mining are the mainstay of the economy, the development of its port, Port Klang, and the rapidly expanding industrial areas are increasingly contributing towards the prosperity of the state, making Selangor an attractive state for both foreign and domestic investment.

Tourism is also beginning to have a major impact on the economy, and Selangor is in the process of developing its many attractions, both natural and man-made.

Selangor is also the most populated in Malaysia and is home to about 2.74 million Malaysians.

Shah Alam, the capital of Selangor, is located about 30 km west of Kuala Lumpur. Its skyline is dominated by the huge, blue aluminum dome of the State Mosque, i.e., Masjid Sultan Salahuddin Abdul Aziz Shah. This dome is reputed to be the largest of its kind in the world.

The state capital can also boast of having the world's only agro-forestry park, the Malaysia Agriculture Park at Bukit Cahaya Seri Alam. Shah Alam offers a beautifully landscaped recreational park that compliments the surrounding lakes and buildings.

The Shah Alam Museum, with its exciting architecture is worth a visit. An aviary is open to the public.

Though overshadowed by Shah Alam and Petaling Jaya, the royal town of Klang can nevertheless bask in the glory of its past, when it played a significant role in the history of Selangor's development. It was the former capital of Selangor, and from its strategic position overlooking the Klang river, it guarded the entrance of the Klang Valley.

From Port Klang, you can take a ferry to Pulau Lumut and Pulau Ketam (Crab Island). These islands have interesting water villages built on stilts into the sea. You can have a fishing experience on a kelong, a fish hut located 2 to 3 kilometres offshore.

Among the other distinguished royal landmarks in Klang is the Kota Raja Mahdi, the fort which was built in 1886 by Raja Mahdi, the ruler of Selangor during the civil war. Another prominent landmark is the pride of Klang, the jewel in the crown, the resplendent Istana Alam Shah Palace which has witnessed many official royal ceremonies even up till today.

First discovered over 100 years ago, the Batu Caves have never ceased to attract visitors. Only 13 km north of Kuala Lumpur, they consist of three main caves and a number of smaller ones.

The best known of these caves is the Temple Cave, a large cavern with a vaulted ceiling about 100 metres above the floor. To reach it one has to climb 272 steps, a feat performed by many Hindus on the way to the caves to offer prayers to their revered deities. Every year, on Thaipusam, as many as 800,000 devotees and other visitors may throng the caves. As a form of penance or sacrifice, many of them carry kavadis. These are large, brightly decorated frameworks, usually combined with various metal hooks and skewers which are used to pierce the skin, cheeks and tongue.

A little below the Temple Cave is the Dark Cave, a two-kilometre long network of relatively untouched caverns containing a large number of cave animals, including several found nowhere else in the world! Access to this cave is restricted and permission and guidelines must be obtained from the Malaysian Nature Society.

At the foot of the steps is the art Gallery Cave, in which are displayed statues and wall paintings depicting Hindu mythology. Access is via a concrete walkway spanning a small lake and nominal entrance fee is charged.

The Taman Pertanian Malaysia or Malaysia Agriculture Park is the only agro-forestry park in this part of the world. It was initiated by the Agriculture Ministry of Malaysia in 1986.

The park is designed in such a way that it gives visitors a total experience of its natural attributes, scientific facilities and agricultural presentations. All these are set within a luscious tropical rain forest in a scenic 1,290-hectare site in Shah Alam, Selangor. Its planners have in mind an open-air 'university' for the dual purpose of recreation and education. Here's a place to learn all about trees by their names!

As one of Malaysia's most popular parks, it has permanent displays, live demonstrations, cultural exhibits, recreational facilities, accommodation, picnic areas, open-air amphitheaters, natural trails, public amenities and numerous educational opportunities.

Even before Klang became the capital of Selangor, Kuala Selangor was the home of the Selangor Sultanate. Two fortresses were built on the hills overlooking the estuary of the Selangor river in order to guard the city. The larger of the two, standing on Bukit Melawati, is now the royal mausoleum containing the remains of Selangor's early Bugis rulers.

Bukit Melawati overlooks the Kuala Selangor Nature Park, which is being jointly developed by the State Government and Malaysian Nature Society. It consist of more than 250 hectares of coastal land, most of it mangrove swamps, and contains about 156 species of birds. An estimated 100,000 wading birds, comprising 30 odd species, pass through here on their annual migration. Artificial lakes have been created to attract some of these birds and observation hides have been built to allow visitors to watch the birds without disturbing them. Leaf monkeys can also be seen in the mangroves.

Located on the west coast of Peninsular Malaysia, about 14 kilometers south of Kuala Lumpur, is a state hailed by historians as the place where Malaysia's rich history can be traced. Malacca spans 1, 658 sq. km., and is divided into three main districts, Central Malacca, Alor Gajah and Jasin.

It was founded by exiled prince from Sumatra, Parameswara, in 1400. It thrived as a port-of-call to many a ship and merchant from China, India, Arab and South America. In 1511 it fell to the hands of the Portuguese followed by the Dutch in 1641 after fierce battle. In 1795 Malacca was given to the British to prevent it falling to the French when the Netherlands was captured during the French Revolution. It was returned to the Dutch in 1818 under the Treaty of Vienna but was later exchanged by the British for Bencoleen, Sumatra. From 1826 onwards it was ruled by English East India Company in Calcutta together with Singapore and Penang under Straits Settlement administration. After World War II, anti-colonial sentiment bred in the country among the nationalists, the result of which the proclamation of Independence by his Highness Tunku Abdul Rahman Putra Al-Haj, Malaysia's first Prime Minister, at the Padang Pahlawan (Warrior's Field) at Bandar Hilir, Malacca on 20th February 1956.

Malacca boasts a legacy of history and charm only a rare few places on Earth are bestowed with. It resembles a compact living museum - filled with an intriguing mix of its inhabitants - Malays, Chinese, Indians, Straits-born Chinese and Portuguese descendants.

Known as the southern gateway, Johor is the third largest state in peninsular Malaysia. Covering an area of 19,984 sq. km. at the southern part of the peninsular, it is bounded by the states of Pahang to the north, Malacca and Negeri Sembilan to the west, and the Straits of Johor to the south.

A causeway carrying a road and a railway line connects the state capital, Johor Bahru, to Singapore; making the state highly accessible from Singapore. Boat services also connect various points along the Johor River to Changi in Singapore.

Johor is one of the most developed states in the country, and its economy is based on a mix of agriculture, manufacturing commerce and tourism. It is a prime producer of rubber, oil palm and pineapple. Pepper is also cultivated on a large scale. It also has a timber and wood-based industry. Bauxite is another product derived from Pengerang. Its new port at Pasir Gudang on the Straits of Johor is fast developing into an important international port.

The rich mix of culture is reflected in the various places of worship - the magnificent mosques, temples and churches existing side by side. It is also evident in the various foods and local delicacies, the colourful and enchanting costumes, festivals, ceremonies and rituals. Most festivals are based on the various religions practiced here although some are also culturally derived. Whatever their

100-mg tablets of Viagra usually cost more than 10 US dollars per tablet. The active ingredient of Viagra is sildenafil citrate. Sildenafil citrate is not particularly difficult or expensive to manufacture. Viagra is only expensive because Pfizer holds a patent on it.

In some Asian countries, pharmaceutical chemicals cannot be patented. Therefore, pharmaceutical companies in these countries have started to supply their home markets with their own sildenafil citrate, at much lower prices.

The domain LoveDrugs.net includes a survey on where this kind of sildenafil citrate can be bought or mail-ordered through the Internet. Please note: the survey deals with genuine sildenafil citrate that is manufactured in FDA-approved facilities, not with bootleg Viagra. For details please click here to proceed to LoveDrugs.net.

here although some are also culturally derived. Whatever their origin, these festivals afford the visitors an interesting and colourful insight into the multifaceted culture that can be traced back to the history of the state.

100-mg tablets of Viagra usually cost more than 10 US dollars per tablet. The active ingredient of Viagra is sildenafil citrate. Sildenafil citrate is not particularly difficult or expensive to manufacture. Viagra is only expensive because Pfizer holds a patent on it.

In some Asian countries, pharmaceutical chemicals cannot be patented. Therefore, pharmaceutical companies in these countries have started to supply their home markets with their own sildenafil citrate, at much lower prices.

The domain LoveDrugs.net includes a survey on where this kind of sildenafil citrate can be bought or mail-ordered through the Internet. Entering Johor Bahru from Singapore involves travelling across the Causeway which links the two cities. Completed in 1924 after four years' work, the Causeway is 1,056 metres long and extends to a depth of 23 metres below the water level. In January 1942, the British Army demolished part of it as invading Japanese forces prepare to attack Singapore from the north.

The Japanese soon effected repairs and the Causeway resumed its role as an important road, railway and general communications link. The crossing includes a pedestrian walkway for the energetic. Singapore gets a good deal of water supply from large water pipes which have been laid across the Causeway from Johor.

These falls are located 56 kilometres north of Johor Bahru, towards the East Coast. The waterfall is 34 metres high and has been a popular spot with both local and foreign tourist for many years. Those who feel the need for a change from the tropical heat may like to try swimming in the cool waters at the base of the falls. A few chalets have been built near the falls for visitors wishing to spend the night and to be rejuvenated by the fresh mountain air. A restaurant serves both Chinese and Western Food. There are also foodstalls. A camping site has also been opened for the young and adventurous.

Ample parking space is available for buses, cars and motorcycles.

This stretch of beach, formerly surrounded by virgin jungle was developed as a tourist resort by the Johor Tenggara Development Authority (KEJORA). The resorts is linked to Kota Tinggi by a modern highway and has two first class hotels as well as beach chalets for rental. An 18-hole international standard of golf course has also been built and there are facilities for day visitors. On weekends, hawker stalls on the normally quiet beach cater for an influx of day trippers. There are also facilities for sports such as tennis, canoeing, swimming, boating, fishing, snorkeling and jungle trekking.

The mountain is said to be the home of legendary Princess 'Puteri Gunung Ledang' once wooed by the Sultan Malacca. The mountain is a favourite among local mountaineers in search of excitement and adventure. The Sagil waterfall at its base is a favourite spot for picnicking.

Crystal clear river water and breathtaking waterfalls in tranquil, unspoiled environment beckon visitors to this area for a cooling bath or simply a quiet rest. Various amenities, including rest sheds, dressing rooms, camping sites, foodstalls and car parks are provided here. There are also tracks leading to the summit of Gunung Ledang.

Malaysia / Johor / Endau-Rompin Forest

The Endau-Rompin area, covering an estimated area of 870 sq. Km, straddling the boundary between between Johor and Pahang, is one of the few remaining lowland forest in Peninsular Malaysia. It encompasses the watershed of the Endau and Rompin rivers from which it derives its name. A scientific expedition carried out in 1985-1986 revealed that this lush and relatively undisturbed area contains a wealth a unique flora and fauna.

Many unique and endemic varieties of plants have been discovered within the centuries-old forest, such as the magnificent fan palm (Endau ensis), climbing bamboo (Rhopa loblaste) and the slender-stemmed walking stick palm (Phychorapis singaporeansis) with its delicate feather-like leaf fronds. Pitcher plants, toadstolls and orchids also grace the forest floor. Moths and butterflies of every shape and hue can also be found flitting among the verdant foliage.

The forest is also home to the Sumatran rhinoceros and its reputedly rich and abundant wild-life include tigers, wildboars, elephants, tapir, deer and mousedeers. The unpolluted rivers abound with an astounding variety of fish easily observed through the clear waters. Hornbills and argus pheasants have also been sighted within the dense greenery.

A visit to his area promises a rare and fascinating insight of life in the Malaysian lowland forest.

Sarawak is the largest of the 13 states that make up Malaysia. Covering an area of about 124,000 sq km, it stretches some 700 km along the northwestern coast of Borneo (the third largest island in the world) and is flanked by Kalimantan (Indonesia) in the south, and Sabah and Brunei in the north.

Separated from Peninsula Malaysia by the South China Sea, it has a warm and equable climate, with an average annual temperature of 25.6 deg C. The rainy season or landas is between November and February. The average annual rainfall is between 330 cm and 460 cm.

Sarawak's history is colourful, filled with adventure, piracy, head-hunting and romance. When English adventurer James Brooke arrived in 1839, Sarawak was rebelling under the rule of the Brunei sultanate. As a reward for the role he played in quelling the rebellion, the Pengiran Mahkota of Brunei made Brooke the Rajah of Sarawak in 1841. James was succeeded by his nephew Charles Brooke in 1868, who, in turn was succeeded by his eldest son, Charles Vyner, in 1917.

During the second World War, Sarawak was occupied by the Japanese forces, but it was subsequently ceded to Britain after the war and became a British Crown Colony. On 16th September 1963, Sarawak joined the Federation of Malaysia, and today she observes a democratic system of government.

Kuching (pop. 306,000) is the economic and political centre of the state, and was declared a city on 1st August, 1988. Miri, the longest town, lies next to the oil-rich sultanate of Brunei.

It's economy is largely dependent on its rich natural resources, particularly oil, liquefied natural gas. (LNG), timber and the famous Sarawak black and white pepper. Nevertheless, it is also a state developed in agriculture, commerce, and industries. Apart from the petroleum products and timber, other important exports are coconut oil, rubber, palm oil, cocoa beans and urea. Its tourism industry is growing and fulfilling its tremendous potential.

The Iban forms the largest indigenous group, comprising 29.6% of the population, while Chinese comprises 29.1%, Malay - 20.7% Bidayuh (formerly known as Land Dayaks) - 8.4%, Melanau - 5.8%. Other indigenous peoples of Sarawak fall under the orang ulu ethnic category and make up a further 5.4% of the population.

Although Islam is the official religion of the state, the people of Sarawak enjoy religious freedom. Christianity, Buddhism and Hinduism are widely practised, while some forms of paganism still exists in the rural interior.

Kuching is also known as the "Cat City". The word "kuching" is said to mean "cat" in the Malay language although the local Malay word for cat is "pusa". Some people believe the capital city's name is really derived from "kuchin" which is said to mean "harbour" in Chinese.

It matters not one of Kuching's landmarks is a giant plaster cat sitting at the end of Jalan Padungan with one front paw raised and its backside turned toward the city. More to the point, Kuching is believed to have the world's only cat museum, in suburban Petra Jaya.

Kuching seems bigger than its 330,000 residents. It is spread out, with big parks and recreation areas and some distinct ethnic enclaves.

The main city, on the western side, has markets, hotels, nightclubs and the waterfront. A newish waterside promenade runs along the river to the clean white lines of the Kuching Hilton at the southern end, with other major hotels clustered nearby.

The broad waterfront promenade is the city's most popular meeting place now, with cafes and live entertainment, benches for watching the passing parade and restored old buildings including the Square Tower, which is now a tourist information centre.

Behind the waterfront are the main bazaar with everything from

Malaysia / Sarawak / Miri

An established gateway, particularly to Mulu National Park which is an exciting and unique centre for visiting amazing caves, virgin rainforest, rivers and wildlife, Miri is a budding resort area and flourishing oil town on Sarawak's northwestern coast. Miri was just a sleepy little trading village at the mouth of the Miri River until 1910 when the giant Shell Oil company sank its first oil well on Canada Hill.

It wasn't long until offshore oil rigs turned the village into a booming headquarters for North Sarawak's big drilling and oil refining operations. Texas accents mixed with Iban dialects on increasingly busy streets, all with money and time to spend.

The contrast between the old town with its traditional shophouses and markets and the modern town's hotels, restaurants, shopping centres and legendary nightlife (a legacy of oil and timber workers from around the world) is striking.

It isn't a big city and is the base for tours to the Mulu and Niah Caves and now has international hotels. It offers a bit of everything in the culinary stakes, as its very international community indicates.

There's a wealth of fruits and vegetables, seafood, game and meats at the Tamu Muhibbah markets, a must for visitors. Kuching laksa is very popular, along with Malay rice and spicy meats and vegetables, curries, grilled and steamed seafood. Diners can even choose between good chicken rice or Southern fried chicken.

Because of Miri's commercial interests and its location just south of Brunei and roughly half way between Kuching and Kota Kinabalu the city could take the role of the principal northern gateway for Sarawak's new "Culture-Adventure- Nature" tourism theme, the

The Niah National Park is world famous for the oldest human remains in South-East Asia found in its Great Caves dating back some 40,000 years. The archeologists also found fragments of pottery, stone tools, ornaments and a splendid set of wall painting of red-haematite depicting activities of stick-like men with hunting weapons and boats. The work of the unknown artist, estimated to be 1000 years old, still beckon travellers from around the world.

The Niah Cave is accessible by road from Miri of Bintulu. It takes two hours from Miri and three hours from Bintulu of the Park Headquarters at Pangkalan Batu. This is followed by a 45-minute walk along plankwalk of 3 kilometres long to reach the entrance of the Great Caves without getting your feet wet when strolling through the dense tropical vegetation.

Millions of bats and swiftlets made the dark recesses of the Niah Caves their home. Along the way, a common scene is meeting workers collecting guano, the accumulation of bird and bat faeces for use as fertilizer. The caves are also known as a site where edible birds' nests could be gathered. Birds' nests made out of the glutinous saliva of millions of swiftlets are also collected by labourers who risk their life to rich the ceiling of the caves at a height of some 50 metres or higher.

The Mulu National Park is one of Sarawak's greatest attractions. Mulu's major claim to fame is its spectacular limestone caves. The caves of Mulu command a long list of superlatives including the world's largest cave passage (the Deer Cave), the world's largest natural rock chamber (the Sarawak Chamber) and the Clearwater Cave, the longest cave system in South-East Asia.

The spacious Deer Cave at 1000 metres wide and 120 metres high can contain London's St Paul's Cathedral five times over. The 60 metres high "shower" continuously pouring from the roof near the "Garden of Eden" is one of the many spectacular views within the Cave.

The Sarawak Chamber can accommodate 40 Boeing 747 aircraft.

Besides the magnificent displays of limestone formation of stalactites and stalagmites and Land Cave and Wind Cave, Mulu National Park is also a paradise for naturalists and adventurers who love jungle trekking and mountain climbing. The Park has 1500 species of flowering plants, including 170 species of wild orchids and 10 types of pitcher plants. There are 67 species of mammals and 262 types of birds, including all eight species of hornbills.

Miri and Limbang are the two main entry points to Mulu National Park. From Miri, visitors can either fly by scheduled Twin Otter flights operated daily by MAS or take the express boat and motorised-longboat all the way to Mulu.

Bako National Park, 37 kilometres from Kuching, can be reached by 30-minute drive to Kampung Bako and then followed by a 25-minute boat ride.

The constant erosion over millions of years, had turned Bako into a picturesque coastline of steep cliffs, rocky head-lands and many stretches sandy bays. The erosion caused by constant waves at the base of cliffs had carved and created many of the rocks into sea arches and sea stacks. Beautiful sandstone formation featuring pink and iron patterns of cliff faces can be seen along most of the coastline.

Many, who live visited the Park commented that Bako National Park is a treasure chest of fauna and flora. Naturalist will be thrilled to find a wide range of vegetations including the varieties of pitcher plants and wild orchids. The varieties of vegetation found in Borneo can also be seen in the Park's mangrove forest, mixed dipterocarp forest, peat swamp forest and kerangas forest.

Trekking through any of its 16 well maintained jungle trails is an interesting experience. Within the Park, it is not uncommon to see troops of long-tailed Macaques and silver-leaf monkeys along with giant monitor lizards, plantain squirrels, wild boards and mouse deers. The most significant animal in the Park is the bizzare long nosed proboscis monkeys found only in Borneo island.

Swimming, beach combing at low tide and sunset watching are popular activities along the sandy bays of the Park. Bako National Park is truly an ideal place for nature lovers and eco-minded adventures.

Malaysia / Sarawak / River Safaris

[The River of Sarawak]

The Skrang River Safari

Skrang is an exciting destination for visitors who see and experience life in a longhouse, once the home of the notorious pirates and head-hunters.

The journeys to Skrang is about 232 kilometres from Kuching. It takes about 5 hours by road and followed by a 1 1/2 hours of motor-propelled longboat journey along the Skrang river.

Spend the night at a longhouse to experience the traditions and customs of the Dayak Ibans. The highlights of the Skrang River Safari is an evening entertainment by the longhouse residents, featuring traditional dances and music. Tuak, a specially brewed rice wine will be served during the evening entertainment.

A jungle walk on the following day is equally interesting. It is an exciting experience to stroll through the dense tropical rainforest, where stimulating sights and sounds open up a world of wonderful discovery.

The Lemanak River Safari

Lemanak is a tributary of the main Batang Lupar River. Many traditional longhouses can be found situated along the river.

Like Skrang, the Lemanak River is another exciting destination within easy reach from Kuching.

About 220 kilometres away from Kuching, Lemanak can be reached in about 5 hours by road. The journey passes through the scenic countryside, rubber and pepper plantations, padi fields, sago palms and followed by an hour motorised-longboat ride penetrating the tropical rainforest through meandering stream.

Sabah occupies the top portion of the island Borneo (the third largest island in the world) and covers an area of 74,500 sq km (29,388 sq miles) with a coastline of about 1,440 km (about 900 miles) washed by the south China Sea on the West and the Sulu Sea and Celebes Sea on the East.

Sabah lies between 4° and 8° North of the equator, and its climate is tropical but pleasant. Sunny blue skies typify most days and it is summer all year round. Though depending on the month and locality, rain may cause a little inconvenience, with the annual rainfall varying from 60 to 120 inches. As a general guide the wet season falls between November and February. Fortunately, Sabah does not experience any natural disaster or calamities. In fact it is under the typhoon belt (thus the name "Land Below The Wind") and is free from any climatic disturbances.

Temperatures seldom reach 90° F (33° C) and usually vary during the day from 74° F to 88° F (23° C to 31°C) and are cooler on the mountains.

Sabah is a unique land, a melting pot of many indigenous and immigrant groups. The population comprises over 30 different races and over 80 different dialects, each group having its own colourful culture, tradition, festival and customs.

The indigenous group include the Kadazan/Dusun, Bajau, Murut, Rungus, Lotud, Brunei, Orang Sungei, Kadayan, Bisaya and many other subgroups. The Chinese form the largest non-indigenous group. The main groups and their 'adat' (cultural observances) are highlighted here.

Kota Kinabalu, the gateway to the rest of Sabah, is also the State Capital. Kota Kinabalu or K.K. as it is usually called, is relatively new town as the original town was destroyed during the Second World War.

MALAYSIA

Malaysia / Sabah / The Kinabalu Park

Covering 754 squares kilometers, the Kinabalu Park is one of the greatest attractions of Sabah. Within its boundaries are found the lowland rain-forest of the tropical zone as its lower level, the mountain oaks and fig trees, the rhododendron shrubs and wild berries of the temperate zone at its medium level, and the conifers and other alpine-like associations of the summit zone at its upper level. It is there no wonder that a good number of its visitors are nature lovers eager to study, record and enjoy its richly varied natural resources.

The Park also has this "away-from-it-all" cool serenity that offers a much needed rest for the tired businessman. It offers the highest mountain in South East Asia to challenge the ambitious mountaineer, and ever-changing grandeur- the magic of sunrise as the stark majesty of the mountain appears before you in the brightening sky, only to be quickly hidden behind a cloudy shroud billowing upward from the lowland forest, or the sky awashed in the wondrous colours of sunset that prompts the avid camera buff to wait patiently for the right moment to click his masterpiece.

100-mg tablets of Viagra usually cost more than 10 US dollars per tablet. The active ingredient of Viagra is sildenafil citrate. Sildenafil citrate is not particularly difficult or expensive to manufacture. Viagra is only expensive because Pfizer holds a patent on it.

In some Asian countries, pharmaceutical chemicals cannot be patented. Therefore, pharmaceutical companies in these countries have started to supply their home markets with their own sildenafil citrate, at much lower prices.
